barrier, an information or communications barrier, an attitudinal barrier, a technology barrier or a policy or practice.

c. Functional Abilities / Job Demands Assessment

A Functional Abilities / Job Demands Assessment is a document completed by a medical professional that outlines a worker's ability to perform work and their physical tolerances to a variety of work activities. It is a comprehensive assessment of the job tasks and includes quantification (weights, frequency, and duration) of all work tasks.

d. Employment Standard

Applies to paid employment and will help employers make their employment practices and workplaces more accessible to people with disabilities. This standard builds upon existing requirements under the Ontario Human Rights Code and applies to these human resource activities:

- Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act and documenting individual accommodation plans for employees with disabilities.
- Recruitment, assessment and selection and informing employees of supports.
- Accessible formats and communication supports.
- Workplace emergency response information.
- Facilitating return to work for those requiring accommodation in the workplace.

Multi-year Accessibility Plan and Policies - Ontario

All offers of employment will include an accommodation clause and contact information should the successful candidate require accommodations to be in place in order to commence employment.

6. RETURN TO WORK PROCESS

Upon return to work from a disability leave, The Management will work with the employee, local management and any third-party insurance companies to ensure the returning employee will make an early and safe return to work wherever possible.

The returning employee is required to provide medical documentation (at their cost) either directly from their doctor or via a third-party insurance company that indicates they are able to return to work. If they are unable to return to work without accommodation, a medical certificate from their doctor or the third-party insurance company outlining the required accommodations must be provided.

If accommodation is required, an individual accommodation plan will be developed.

7. WRITTEN ACCOMMODATION PROCESS

Brennan Industries is committed to providing accommodations for people with disabilities.

The need for accommodation should be:

- Requested by the employee through their direct manager (a doctor's note is recommended); or
- Identified by the employee's manager during performance management, career development and redeployment processes.

Brennan Industries will gather relevant information and assess the employee's needs, with the employee actively participating in this process. The employee may also request the participation of a representative from the workplace. Please note that this policy does not refer to minor, temporary job modifications that last one week or less. A formal, written accommodation plan is not required under these circumstances; however, a doctor's note (at the employee's expense) may still be required to ensure the employee's functional abilities are being met during this period.

While the Company does not require details on the nature of the employee's disability to provide an accommodation, the Company must be advised of the employee's functional abilities. As such, Management may request a functional abilities / job demands assessment, at the Company's expense, from the employee's physician(s). The Company may also request that an external expert participate, at the Company's expense. Employees are still responsible for the cost of medical certificates required to apply for short-term disability, short-term absences due to illnesses, maternity leave, family leave, etc. as per existing policies.

Applicable options will be evaluated by the parties involved to determine the most appropriate accommodation measure for the employee. Examples of measures (modified duties) may include:

- Reduction in hours of work or change in work schedule
- Change in work location
- Different equipment or work methods
- Assignment of special projects
- Related duties or limited duties using the employee's same skill and work knowledge

Once the most appropriate accommodation has been identified, the details are captured in a formal plan. The accommodation plan is provided to the employee in a format that takes into account the accessibility needs due to the nature of the disability. Please note that the employee's personal information is protected at all times.

The formal plan may include:

- Accessible formats and communication supports, if requested
- Workplace emergency response information, if required
- Any other accommodation that is to be provided

If the individual accommodation is denied, the manager is required to respond to the employee with the reason for the denial, in an accessible format.

The approved accommodation plan is then implemented, monitored and reviewed to ensure that it has effectively resolved the challenge which the employee faces. A copy of the accommodation plan is filed with the employee's Human Resources information.

- Formal plan reviews are conducted at a predetermined frequency
- The accommodation plan is reviewed if the employee's work location or position changes
- The accommodation is reviewed if the nature of the employee's disability changes

If the accommodation is no longer appropriate, the employee and the manager are required to work together to gather relevant information and reassess the employee's
